

WebCME.com

www.webcme.com

mtshulos@webcme.com

917-940-8157

Shock and Call Review

Date: April 24, 2010

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: Dr. Reynold L. Trowers, M.D. FACEP

Target Audience: EMTs, Paramedic, and health care workers

CME hours: 2

Objectives:

1. Define shock and the shock syndrome
2. Discuss the differential diagnosis for shock
3. Describe the typical clinical/physical findings of patient presenting in shock
4. Discuss the typical treatment modalities indicated to treat various types of shock
5. Review the four levels of severity of hypovolemic shock
6. Discuss optimal treatment approaches for each level of hypovolemic shock

Syllabus:

7:00 PM EST. Shock with Q&A

8:00 PM EST. Call Review

9:00 PM EST. Survey and certificate

References for Shock :

1. Caroline, Nancy L. Emergency Care in the Streets 8th edition. Jones and Barlett Publishers c. 2012, Section 8 ISBN 13:987144964586
2. American College of Surgeons. Advanced Trauma Life Support for Doctors. (9th edition). C. 2012
3. ISBN 13-978-1-880696-02-6 Chap. 3 Shock pp.62-80

4. Tintinalli, Judith E. Emergency Medicine A Comprehensive Study Guide. McGraw-Hill. C. 2012, Chapter 25 Approach to the Patient in Shock, Chapter 26 Fluid and Blood Resuscitation